“ Dear Grandma, It's Susie. It has been such a rough few years. I wish I would have known that this website was created for you or I would have been on here sooner. When DSS took me away the year you passed on my father and I had planned to come see you like we always done in the spring. Boy, he loved your oranges that grew on your tree in the back yard. What saddens me the most of all is that I never got to say good-bye. I miss playing kings in the corner with you and going to bingo and Disney World. It's not fair what DSS did to me. I only had 6 mo. with my dad after I signed myself out. but, my dad is in Heaven with you and so is Grandpa. Thank-you for loving me and always making sure I was loved. I miss you. I wish I could have been there to say goodbye. I love You so so much. I have so many picture's of us that I keep in my binder. I hope you are in peace and if you can tell my dad and mom that I love them. Tell them to send me some hope down here. I'm all alone and I can understand that God had to take everyone away from me but, please watch over me. things are rough down here. I wish I was with you in Heaven because, there is no place like home but, with my family! God bless you Grandma. I love you so much with hugs and kisses, Your granddaughter Susie

Hey Grandma, I just wanted to say that I miss you and I pray that one day this will all be over. I know that life is precious and we all have a time frame. I wish things could be better but, still the world sucks. It's Sunday, thought about when we used to go to church and you and Grandpa would go and get communion but, I had to stay seated because, I wasn't old enough yet, lol. Lol, means laugh out in this day and age. It's 2018, still not much has changed in the world. Wishing I could give you a hug and kiss. Miss all of so badly. Anyways, watch over me and if you could tell Grandma Tritt that I'm sorry and that I will always love her, no matter what. I hope to see you one day soon, XOXO! Rest In Peace Grandma, I love you!
