“ You always promised me you would love me and never leave me.. And I feel myself having a really hard time coping with losing you.. It's almost a year and not a day goes by that you don't run through my mind.. I miss you so much it gets hard to breathe sometimes.. I don't know why god took you from me so soon.. I miss you and you will always have a place in my heart. I love you.

“ I'm so sorry for your loss. Craig was one of "the crew" in Okinawa. When I heard about this, I started cataloging the memories and going over them, even the smallest ones. When I think about Craig, this is what I remembered first -- The group of us all always hung around a country bar in Japan. But Craig wasn't too fond of the music selection, so he always had in his headphones. He didn't go for the music or the atmosphere. He didn't go to join in the conversation (because he wouldn't have heard it anyway). He came because that's where we were. To me, THAT is Craig. And he is missed. Greatly.

“ I am sorry for the loss of your son.

I have a son of my own, 7 years old. I was driving past the Rural cemetery this am. I passed by as your son's burial was taking place. I headed into town. As I returned it was still taking place. I pulled into the cemetery and witnessed one of the most honorable and touching burials ever. It is believed that the departed Always, attends their own funeral. You, as well as your son must be very proud.

Smile...he touched me this day.
