Tribute Wall

“ Edward J. Franz

November 27, 2022 at 05:33 PM

“ Ed and I first met in the hallways of Stimson Middle School. He was one of the most reliable and loyal friends I've ever had. If I was ever stranded I knew if I called Ed his response was always the same, "Be there in 20" and he always seemed to enjoy it. If any of my friends brought someone new into our group of friends, he was always the first one to introduce himself and try his hardest to make that person feel comfortable. Almost all my memories from my teenage years to adulthood some how had Ed involved, the great ones and the ones we can look back and say how dumb were we.

After reading all the other stories about Ed on his tribute wall; that was the Ed that I and all my friends knew. The long stories, his work ethic, crazy antics, whispering when he spoke, his huge heart and the hundreds of other things that made Ed, well Ed.

Even though he won't be there, I am happy I was at least able to let him know how great of a friend he was to me and my fiance by asking him to stand next to me on my wedding day. And that the two of us got to hangout and play Kan Jam in your backyard one last time.

The world lost a great person and I lost a best friend.

Miss you man.

“ I am in shock right now. I was away on vacation until the 15th of May and spoke to you the morning I was leaving. I can not believe that I am just finding out about this today!! You were always one of my favorite people to work with. Over the many years we have known each other we had built quit a friendship. I will miss those phone calls we would have while we were driving home from work. I know Steve feels the same about you as I do. I share his grief over this. When the three of us would be together on a job it never seemed like work. I wish someone would have told me about this. You were to young to go and I will miss you greatly. I am sorry I didn't get to say good by. Rest in piece brother.

“ I met Ed a couple of years ago, at a JCI Boot Camp, in York, Pa. and he made such an impression on me, with his warm personal nature, I knew this young man had a bright future with JCI. Ed will truly be missed and NEVER forgotten.

“ I am so sad to hear of my brother from Johnson Controls passing. In 2010 I left Siemens briefly for 18 months to start a new venture in my life. During this time I met the person that was probably one of the closest people to being an identical personality twin that you can think of. He was one of the few reasons that I didn't want to go back to Siemens because I enjoyed the friendship and work partnership we had on projects. Same attitude, same sarcastic mouth like mine, perfect Equipment and controls combo, and our job financials always showed it.. Aside from that on a personal level Edward J. Franz picked me up many times when I did not want to move and was feeling mentally flat. He is the guy that would just call out of nowhere when I had my head in my hand in my trailer while on the job and say "Pasta, whats goin' on, you ok?", "I'll be at the job in a half hour" (and show up 15 minutes later).. Goofy smile, crackin jokes, and right next to me ripping into contractors, we were the dynamic duo. "I'm batman your Robin", "NO ED i'm batman and your Robin", was the argument up to the roof.. When we get up there we would just lace into everyone, and laugh the whole way down after we put them in their place... Ed my man, I am really gonna miss you... I am totally hurt by this. 18 months felt like a lifetime of friendship.. And we were in contact on a regular basis since. I'll see you when I see you again.

“ Ed,

I sat next to you for nearly the last four years at work. One thing I'll remember is that you always had a smile on your face and had such an up beat personality - even when I would yell at you to speak up because you always whispered when you talked! You always gave us the best wine bottles at Christmas time! You were always willing to lend a helping hand and you were always polite to me. That is one thing that I admired about you and I'm glad that I told you that. The office will miss your presence and spirit greatly.

I can't speak enough to how BIG of a personality he had. He both drove me crazy and kept me laughing during this last 3.5 years that I sat next to him at work. He really will be missed. I have fond memories of him holding a beer can while trying to play volleyball (we did a summer league at our office) and we all gave him crap for it. When he put the beer can down he was TERRIBLE!!! Missed every ball coming to him! Lol! So he grabbed his beer again and was able to hit the ball one handed for a score. It was hilarious! Ed played better with beer in hand than without. And that is indicative of who he was - just a fun loving person who enjoyed life. RIP Ed.

He was so kind and friendly and would never forget me on the Holidays by sending me cookies etc. My condolences to the family. God be with you and cherish all of the memories.*
