“ For 62 years, Teddy and I caused the kind of mischief only two husbands and fathers could create. I loved him like a brother and always will. We played cards, went hunting (often unsuccessfully), camped with our families and were known to ask each other "Are you ready?" nearly every time we spoke. Our friendship and love for each other can never be replaced. My heart is broken by his passing but he was brave and fought a good fight, and in the end he just wanted to be with his loving wife Claire. He earned that well deserved rest. He will forever be in my heart and his memory will live inside of me as long as I live. Bob Graves
