“ We have all lost a great friend in life. Ed had a brilliant wit, great sense of humor, and as a mentor to many, gave much of his time to those he encountered seeking his advice. My friend for many years, a conversationalist who welcomed and cherished the time to sit down for a chat. A brilliant analyst who was highly respected by his peers in the field of credit and operational financial matters, he could see pitfalls and opportunities where others did not. Many are grateful for his contributions to life and work. I am appreciative for the opportunity to have known him for so many years. Roberta, Christopher, Andrew you have my deepest sympathy.
