“ You always pop into my mind at some point during my day. I hope you realize how many hearts you've touched, and that your imprint is there forever, in all of us. I have a piece of you to carry with me throughout my journey, and I hope that you're finally happy. I know you're having a great time, wherever this life has led you. I'll never forget you. Rest in paradise, I love you always.

“ Dear Frank, Beth, and Justin,

Please know that our prayers have been with you since learning of Eric's death. While we were not able to be with you in person on Saturday - please know that you are not far from our thoughts during this time. Words can not express our sorrow.

With our love, The De George Family

“ I didnt think the last time i would see you would be at the gas station getting gas during hurricane sandy. Im glad i got to see you and spend a laugh together as the last time i saw you though. When i found out what happened, i immediately thought about that moment and how I never thought that would have been the last time i saw you. I hope you know how much love there is for you and how much you are going to be missed. I can only hope your looking down on everyone realizing what an amazing person you really were.

“ Eric,

The times we have spent together, I will never forget. You knew how to light up a room with just a smile. I don't remember one time that we hung out when you didn't make me hysterically laugh over pretty much nothing, but somehow you made those "nothings" absolutely hilarious. I will never forget one time we were at Branden's and I was crying and you were the only one who stayed with me the whole night and would yell at me when I wasn't smiling. It was like me being happy was more important than you having fun. I never thanked you enough for thank so I hope you know how appreciative I am for how you treated me that night. Also, the night at Wills when you and I were cleaning up his house, you somehow made cleaning up garbage fun by turning it into a game. We shared a lot of things with each other during those 2 hours of "garbage ball horse" as you called it, and those are things I will never forget. You have touched the lives of so many people here, more than I even knew. Its so amazing to see how vast your group of friends were, just goes to show you were such a likable person. As selfish of me as it is to say, I wish you were still here. That being said, I know you are in a much better place and are truly happy now. Please keep watch over all of us, as we will all think about you everyday. You, Justin, and your entire family is in my prayers. Rest Easy you fruity tomato ;)

Love, Steph

“ My dear friends, a stone wall may be all you see now, but out of your adversity I know your courage will find a gateway opening once again to the strength you possess. No one can take the place of your loved one, and only one who has had a like sorrow can understand the grief you are experiencing. I did want you to know that although physically far away, I am with you in spirit. My family and I are covering you and your family with prayers.

John 14:27 Peace I leave with you; my peace I give you. I do not give to you as the world gives. Do not let your hearts be trouble and do not be afraid.

“ Eric Relf, it's beyond me to think that you are no longer here in the flesh. I only knew you for a short while, but you completely left your mark on me those few weeks we became friends. My heart goes out to you and your family and everyone ever lucky enough to have heard your voice or shook your hand. Eric you were one of a kind and will be missed dearly. Thank you for always keeping it real, and your ability to make the whole room smile. I hope to see you again some day buddy, much love.
