“ I've talked with Michael, who doesn't currently have access to the internet, and am sending this on his behalf. He talked about his last conversation with you and how you never, ever messed or texted without saying "I love you" to him. He will miss you, Jacqueline!

“ I will miss our FB chats from coast to coast. It was good to keep in touch. You were an important person to the kids. I know Jessica really appreciated the advice and conversations you shared. Alex always enjoyed visiting with you and AJ (and the rest of the family) in NY, when he was younger. We're send positive energy out to all the family at this difficult time.

I have known Jacque for so long, it seems impossible that she is gone. I loved and respected her and I enjoyed her company. We spent so much time on the phone, especially when AJ was a baby. When she was trying to get him to go to sleep and he was crying she would call me up (standing outside his bedroom door) and we would take turns being the "strong one". She'd call and say "he's crying, and I want to go pick him up" and I say "be strong, let him cry, he will be OK". We would stay on the phone until he stopped crying and went to sleep (some nights it took almost an hour). The next night I would call her and she'd say "he's crying, but I'm not going in there, he will be OK, I'm being strong" and I would say "Oh, please go get him"! It's a good thing we could be strong on opposite days, it helped a lot! Good bye my dear friend, I love you and I hope to see you again in Heaven!

“ I will miss your infectious laughter and your ability to appreciate both the big and little things in life. I will be forever grateful that we reconnected and forever sad that it was not for long enough. Condolences to AJ, AJ's dad & his family who you loved Like your own, your mom, Jamie & his family, Rachel, Harry & your nephew and of course to our many mutual friends & your friends from the fire house. I sure hope I didn't forget anyone. Miss you!!!!
