“ As we celebrate Aunt Joan’s extraordinary life, she will be remembered as a strong, amazing woman, who was a life-long educator and published author. Despite her many accomplishments, Aunt Joan always remained a humble and kind person. She loved sharing her knowledge on a wide variety of topics. I always enjoyed her stories about growing up in the Bronx in the 40s. Her and my Dad, Bill, were very close in age and had many adventures together that they both enjoyed sharing. I remember visiting Aunt Joan & Uncle Jerry with my family when they first moved into their house in Head-of-the-Harbor. My sisters and I enjoyed playing in the woods surrounding the house and thought it was such a cool place. Although my family moved away from New York, I always enjoyed very interesting coversatins with Aunt Joan throughout the years and will miss her very much.
