“ Joe helped me realize my future is what I make it. I was going nowhere fast with my life. It was so long ago, and he may not remember the advice he gave me, but I do. That was during some of the darkest times in my life. His tough talk, actually, Joe called me a dope and a few other words. I became that better person, but I never got to tell him. I know he can see now. Joe helped me and I wanted to share this. I have used his short but sweet/tough message on a few others family and friends. Some have made it and some not, but 10 minutes can change a person future. That is why I stated he was my royal flush; it's the best hand I ever got.

Thanks,
Joseph F. Pisacano

“ I felt a deep sadness , when my Dad called to tell me Joey had passed yesterday. My condolences to the Pisacano family and close friends. I have been away from NY and the old neighborhood for many years. But it feels like yesterday, time passes so quickly.

Joey was an Ace, a Joker, a great storyteller and I respected him. He will always be the Royal Flush in my memories of the many years hanging around Arties Food Store. We use to ride dirt bikes in the field, have crabapple fights and just causing trouble hanging with little Artie and Joey, Joe would always chase us away, but never turn us away when we came in for breakfast or lunch. I had the best and toughest younger years around That Great Family Icon.

But Joe is playing cards with Saint Peter now and smiling down on us all. I will always remember his smile, laughter and of course a good ribbing over easy. He served his country and us all with his kind heart and tough love. Joe made every morning a good day. Aces High Joe, RIP!

“ It is with tears, smiles and a heavy heart that I write this. I have known Joey for over 25 years. Joey and Sue were the first of my husband Bobby Watt's circle to befriend me. I have considered them family ever since. Best friend was what Bobby called Joey. "Grumpy Old Men" is what I jokingly called them. I will always fondly remember the pool parties, endless clowning around and in general all the big belly laughs. Who can ever forget Joey's endless supply of jokes or his non-stop commentary on what he ate that day? You name it - everything was fair game for his colorful banter.

One year and 16 days ago it was Joey who drove me home from the hospice at 3 AM when my husband left this earth. Joey - I KNOW Bobby met you on the other side. I picture you crossing over, giving "Wattie-Boy" a big hug and immediately rattling off a few tried and true jokes. You will be greatly missed. The world already feels smaller and darker without you in it. Love you Joey - Thanks for all the years filled with fun and friendship. Give Sue a big hug for me and please tell my Bobby that I miss him until my last breath. I extend heartfelt condolences to the entire family. Angela Watt (Angie-Girl)

“ My condolences to your family. I am a friend of Laureen's. My name is Ramona. I spoke with Joe once about meeting him and playing poker. He said that Laureen was terrible and that maybe I would be better at it than her. I never got that chance but I do know that Joe is holding a royal flush right now. Perhaps one day we will play Joe. Rest in peace. God bless.

“ *We will miss your laughter and your hilarious jokes. I will miss hearing you tell the same silly little joke every time you'd order extra mushrooms at a restaurant and telling the waitress that you needed them because you were a "fun guy" (fungi). Kenenth and Gianna will miss all of the fun they'd have playing games with you and watching The Price Is Right and Wheel Of Fortune (for Vanna of course!) I'm sure your VIP suite in the sky was fully prepared for you with a tv that absolutely had to have Game Show Network! Every time I make chicken cutlets and meatballs (or when Kenny makes them for me, who am I kidding?!) I will think of you. Thank you for all of the amazing memories. We go back a bit with Joey. Sandlot baseball next to "Arties Food Store", when there was still a sand lot next to "Arkies". that was awhile ago... about 60 yrs. And fishing in the pond (long ago filled in) on Lenox Rd. Using safety pins for fish hooks and worms for bait - Joey caught a catfish and threw it back in. And making bets - always making bets on really stupid stuff - always funny. Years later, not so funny losing handfuls of twenties to Joe in poker.

In social studies class the teacher was trying to explain inflation- Joe was telling a joke to the kid next to him and the teacher said: "JOEY - what are you going to do about INFLATION?"

Joe said "What am I gonna do? I'll just raise the price of baloney!"

So much hilarity - always off the cuff - ad lib - never missing a beat....most of which can't be printed here - but always in good humor. They say laughter is the best medicine.... then Joe Pisacano deserves an honorary M.D.

And so much to admire - Courage, (2 purple hearts, one wasn't enough for Joe) and Strength you could always rely on, and Heart - Kindness and Generosity.

Too sad for words, losing my brother Bob and then Joey - his best friend in life for all their lives - in just over a year. He will be missed here, but Heaven's having alot more fun than it was a week ago

“ We are so saddened to hear of the passing of our friend Joey! As a child I would walk the route to Artie's Food Store and it felt like it took forever to get there. Once inside those doors I was greeted by Joey with a smile and a hello ! He made the walk there worthwhile! After buying my ice pop he would be quick to say "now, go home, and say hi to your dad !"Joey was an icon in our neighborhood growing up and he will be missed. His legacy will live on through all of the people he touched! RIP Joey.

“ My amazing Uncle Joe I cant believe I will never hear another one of your hysterical perverted jokes again or listen to you tell me how beautiful I am or even yell at me because I love to waste my money at the wrong grocery stores....you will live on in my heart forever and will always be missed! I love you to the moon stars and back and this is not a goodbye its a "see you on the other side"..... oh and one more thing I promise to continue to watch wheel of fortune every night at 7pm just to see how gorgeous Vanna White looks just for you. Rest In Peace my uncle I LOVE YOU FOREVER

“ Joe and I met in 1964; he just arrived in Camp Pendleton from the east coast.

He was cutting grass with a pair of scissors. I asked him what the hell are you are doing, he told me the blip, blip Sargent Farnsworth made him cut the grass because he threw a cigarette on the ground.

I told him well now we have one thing in common because Sargent Farnsworth hated my guts too.

From that moment on we became close friends.

Joe came home with me on liberty many times. My father loved Joe from the moment I brought him home. He trusted Joe more than he trusted me. He wrote Joe many letters trying to get the scoop on me.

Joe had a flair for writing and he help me write love letters to my girlfriend who later became my wife. When my wife found out that Joe wrote the letters, she often told me that she married the wrong guy

Fate chooses our relatives, but we get to choose our friends and no one had better friend than Joe. Joe was the brother that I never had. Over the years, I have realized the value of friendship and I feel blessed to have had Joe as a friend. Being apart never change the fact that for a long time we grew side by side; our roots will always be tangle.

Friendship is a rare and precious commodity. If you have a friend, who truly understands you and accepts you despite your shortcomings, then you are the luckiest person in the world.

Friendship is like peeing in your pants. Everyone can see it, but only you can feel the warm feeling inside.

Of all the friends I've ever had, Joe is the one I will never forget and when is time for me to pass and go to heaven, I know he will be there to greet me.

There are no goodbyes for us.

Wherever Joe is, he will always be in my heart. I will never forget our laughs, our jokes, our smiles, our memories, and most of all our friendship.

“ *Dearest Joey. Heard the news of your passing today. I am heartbroken. Spent many wonderful times and laughs with the Hirshbergs each morning before leaving for work in the 70's. I can go on and on about a personality that kept all of us laughing. Many times over the years , I would think of those times. I wish you eternal peace as you were a man that wanted people to laugh along side of you. Condolences to his family and I also think of Artie. Truly the odd couple but brothers until the end..
