“ Tribute to Josephine Alfieri Giurici

Josephine was a kind, joyful and honorable woman. She was a devoted daughter, sister, wife, aunt, cousin, friend, surrogate mother and role model for many of us. We in the 'Giurici', 'Scopaz' and 'Tomici' families were thrilled and blessed when she married our cousin Edoardo and together they made a wonderful life. They enjoyed a beautiful and long marriage which was filled with much love, mutual respect and joy. She and Edoardo were true soul mates and worked hard to pursue their dream of owning a restaurant. They worked tremendously hard and created an outstanding, successful restaurant in Amagansette. Despite their long working hours, they found time to laugh and have fun with each other, with their staff and their clients. They took time off in winter to visit family in LI and NYC or venture on a cruise to warmer climates or visit Europe. Josephine, like Edoardo had a huge and generous heart and her ability to love without judgement, is still so very profound for me. I was and will always be in awe of her. To me she was and always will be special.

Josephine loved children, even little precocious and petulant brats like me. She was clever and was a natural psychologist. She had the ability to turn me around and taught me to be kind, laugh at myself, work hard and find my passion. Her house in Montauk was lovely and warm and inviting. It was truly a 'Bed and Breakfast-Lunch and Dinner' for each and every one of us wanting to escape the city boroughs and enjoy the ocean and this little piece of paradise. They made it paradise. She and Edoardo would meet whoever asked to stay, toss them the keys, tell them the fridge was full and the beds were ready and off to work they went.

Besides her attributes of kindness, generosity and patience, she was also courageous, valiant and positive. Always positive. She survived breast cancer over 30 years ago and this was also a testament to her steadfast faith and belief in prayer. When Edoardo was diagnosed with cancer years later, she never left his side. She was his advocate, protector and his nurse. She reinforced the courage he already had to fight and endure.

After Edoardo's passing, Josephine carried on valiantly and was still quite active and connected with the Montauk Senior community, with her family and friends. Josephine was particularly comforted all these long years by her nephews and their families especially Anthony. He had been her selfless and devoted advocate for all these many years, her surrogate son. He saw to all her needs, spent all holidays and weekends with her and helped her find loving and devoted companions to provide additional care giving. Anthony never left her side these last several months and I believe his presence gave Josephine tremendous security and comfort during this difficult time of letting go. Josephine is finally at peace with God and her loved ones. May we all emulate Josephine by being brave and strong when it is our time

My heartfelt condolences to her nephew Anthony and his brothers and wives, to her nieces Anita and Bruna and their families, to her friend Carol and her caregiver Claudette and all other family members, friends and caregivers too numerous to mention. With love and gratitude always and forever, Pietrina
