“ This week has filled me with mixed emotions when I first learned of Uncle Lloyd's death....Sadness - Joy - Laughter - Love - Friendship -Thankfulness and sooo many other feelings. Memories keep flooding my mind....it's like going back in time and reliving all that's taken place....I can remember being at Grandma & Grandpa's house in Brooklyn laying on the floor in front of the TV & Uncle Lloyd explaining the sports game going on - he was only a teenager & he was spending time with his little neice. He was instrumental in teaching me & having me become a big time sports fan. Then I can remember seeing him in his Navy whites. I have memories of Uncle Lloyd and Aunt Joan's wedding & how I thought she looked like a real princess in that gown. How they came out to our house on LI to pick me up & take me back to Brooklyn for the weekend, so the three of us could go to the circus the next day. We always had a lot of fun & I have sooo many great memories of my Uncle Lloyd when he enjoyed good health. Can remember when each of the girls were born & my enjoying babysitting them - except when they'd get sick - LeeAnn. I can remember how both Uncle Lloyd & Uncle Arnie protected me during Daddy's funeral...the three of those men - Daddy, Uncle Arnie & Uncle Lloyd are all my heros & I miss ALL of them terribly but know I'll be reunited with all of them one day. Then came the awful years when Uncle Lloyd's health was compromised by serious issues. Even, so Uncle Lloyd always seemed to see the best of the situation & his ready laugh or quick expression of humor gave us all the impression he was dealing with his failing health in a special way. The last time I saw him, his health was really failing him but still he tried to make everyone feel relaxed by his good spirits & special humor. God gave him a special strength to put others at ease in spite of his hardship. It seemed that when he was hurting the most, he tried his best to put the rest of us at ease & not worry. I will miss you Uncle Lloyd...

You have enriched my life with your humor, your interesting stories, your friendship and especially your love. Now Uncle Lloyd is back together with Uncle Arnie and Daddy & the rest of the family & they're having a Christiansen Family Reunion with one another & especially with Jesus Christ our/their Lord and Savior. I thank you, Uncle Lloyd, for the special memories that I have of you & I can feel good knowing that you are in God's hands now, you're no longer suffering but are whole again. I know I will see you again & that promise helps to ease the pain but it still hurts. I'm thankful that God is with me to comfort & strengthen me....just wish I could be with Aunt Joan and the girls. I love you Uncle Lloyd and will always miss our special relationship. Love from Your Favorite Neice - the one and only.....Dianne xxxooo
