“ I remember being on an Albers family reunion in what must've been the mid-1970s. I think it was the Blue Ridge Mountains. Each family stayed in a cottage and it was a blast. Down in the valley was a little airport and I was SO impressed that Uncle Bob knew how to fly those airplanes AND took the time to take us up in small groups to see the beautiful mountains from the air. Made a big impression on a small boy. I still remember his big smile flying the plane.
