“ I first Steven when he was just about 14. I was at a on interview at his fathers business and he was perched on a stool being punished, yet he looked so angelic with that beautiful smile of his. Through the years I learned to adore that guy, he sure knew how to make me laugh. Steven had a way of making lemonade out of lemons, always seemed to find the funny side of any situation good or bad. As a man I saw a loving husband, devoted father, caring brother and son. He will surely be missed by all especially by his wonderful family. I am truly heart broken. My love and thoughts go to the entire Dresher family.

I worked with Steve a few years, and although in different buildings, we always managed to get together at break for a few laughs. I never met his family, but send my deepest condolences as I know he's surely missed.

I worked closely with Steven from 2010 - 2013. I am shocked to hear the sad news. He was an amazing mentor to me and really just an inspiration. He was taken too soon! My thoughts go out to his family.
