

Zannia Lalee Ojibe

May 5, 1998 - October 9, 2022

Zannia Lalee Ojibe, of Dix Hills, sadly passed away October 9, 2022. Loving daughter of Kyrian and Edith. Cherished sister of Zenab. Zannia will be missed by many loving family and friends.

In lieu of flowers the family would like a Memorial Tree planted in Honor of Zannia Lalee:

“ Zannia touched our hearts in so many ways unimaginable. Behind her quite demeanor belied a huge personality, a sense of humor and most notably a heart of gold. She was never afraid to voice her opinion and is very loyal to her friends. It may come as a surprise to know that Zannia had a passion for food; this passion was memorialized in all things important to her, which was, “Food is Life” - her Instagram name was “lazania5510”, a coined synonym for Lasagna. Her passions also extended to acting, which started at a very young age; she found renewed joy going back to her original love for acting and was looking forward to greater joy in that career. She loved reading and Greek mythology was among her favorite genre. Also, she was a big fan of anime and comics, specifically DC and Marvel and had encyclopedias for both universes. Zannia loved her community and embraced causes that promote the advancement of African American businesses; on her last day with us, she participated in “Culturecon” event in Brooklyn – the joy she felt in being part of “Culturecon” is forever memorialized in the pictures she took at the event. She was adventurous and never afraid to try new things. Zannia would want us to live our lives to the fullest and embrace those things in life that give us joy, just as she did.

“ Sending my condolences to Zannia’s beloved family ❤️ It was such a pleasure knowing Zannia and working alongside her at NVE.

We met at the NVE retreat at our beachside gathering. She was super sweet and had a beautiful vision for her future. I pray her vision and legacy lives on through those who loved her the most.

*Sending all of my love,

“ I worked on the same team with Zannia at NVE. We got to meet briefly at the NVE retreat this year and she was so sweet and welcoming even though I felt like a fish out of water. She immediately offered me the seat next to her anytime I saw her. We reunited in person during an event in LA, and we waited like an hour in line for empanadas and a coke. All the while joking, chatting, and having fun even though we were both tired. She was so peaceful to be around and made me feel so calm.

Sending the whole family love and light. I can't imagine your pain, but praying that you all find comfort in each other.

Love,

I laughed because she made me believe that was true. Zannia had the most genuine smile and was such a beautiful soul. She's left this earth far too soon. My sincerest condolences to her family for their loss.

“ Zannia and I were in the same on-board group when we got hired. I got the pleasure of meeting her in person at our company's work retreat. We ended up in the same improv workshop and that's when I realized how funny of person she actually is. I remember later in the evening during our dinner she saw me and said, "I feel like we have a bond now," laughing at the fact hours before we were crawling on grass and shouting nonsense to each other.

I am truly devastated by her passing and I cannot imagine how her family and twin sister feels. I truly wish you guys my condolences during this time. May she rest in paradise.

“ I don't work closely with Zannia at work, but I had the amazing opportunity to meet her during our work retreat. When introducing myself, I said, "My name is Blue, like the color!" and she responded with, "I'm Zannia, like lasagna" which was my favorite interaction because it caught me so off-guard and we laughed about it and talked a bit that night. Even with a brief interaction, I would tell my close friends about how someone at work introduced themselves as lasagna and how genius I thought that was. And luckily for me, I moved to NYC, was able to see her recently at another work-sponsored event, and chat with her longer.
